Overview

Community-based integrated healthcare requires skills in communication, management, and resource utilization among healthcare personnel, healthcare organizations, and community and state entities. You will apply appropriate actions and strategies consistent with the organizational mission, values, and needs in interactions with community leaders and members of the community. You will learn and demonstrate utilization of communication and collaboration skills and the evaluation and application of data in problem-solving skills at both the organizational and community level.

Competencies

- Communication and Collaboration Methods
  The graduate utilizes effective methods for organizational communication to increase effectiveness, collaboration, and problem-solving among stakeholders.

- Effective Leadership Evaluation
  The graduate evaluates attributes of effective leadership and discerns appropriate actions and strategies consistent with the organizational mission, values, and needs.

- Data Application
  The graduate evaluates the value, source, and appropriate application of the data (risk, compliance, quality, policy, populations, finance, economic factors).

Learning

Getting Started

Welcome to the Challenges in Community Health Project! This course encompasses four assignment topics: Community Needs, Access to Care, Collaboration, and Community Focused Financial Stewardship. In each assignment topic, you will explore the "Discover" section, complete the "Engage" activities, and complete the assignment worksheet. Each assignment is designed to build your skills to help you complete the final project. Competency will be demonstrated by the successful completion of a performance assessment where you develop a Community Health Plan. There is also a Leadership Development component in the Project section. The completion of the Leadership Development activities will help you develop as a leader and a professional. To help you track your progress in the course, view the Pacing Guide located in the Course Information section. To get started, click "Go to Course Material".
