Overview

Financial Management for IT Professionals develops learners’ skills in financial management, budgeting, and procurement. This course teaches how to leverage financial know-how to improve workplace decision-making. This course also provides learners with the knowledge and skills necessary to spend money on the right projects and equipment, while aligning operating budgets with strategic initiatives. There are no prerequisites for this course.

Competencies

- Financial Management
  The graduate analyzes how financial information influences organizational decision-making, operational sustainability, and productivity.

- Budgeting
  The graduate creates IT capital and operating budgets that meet an organization's mission and goals.

- IT Procurement
  The graduate manages the acquisition and replacement of technology resources for an organization.

Learning

Getting Started

Welcome to Financial Management for IT Professionals! This course equips you with the basic accounting and finance skills you will need to collaborate and make decisions in IT and leadership positions. Your competency will be demonstrated through an objective assessment.

Failed to retrieve assessments

Course Information

Financial Formulas
Course Instructor Group

✉️ cmittgradwriting@wgu.edu

Course Instructor Responsibility

How to Work with Course Instructors