FTT5 Testing

2 Competency Units

- The graduate describes the importance, reasons, and methods for assessing students.
- The graduate understands measurement and testing issues relevant to classroom instruction.
- The graduate identifies the characteristics, uses, advantages/disadvantages, and methods for using different types of assessment appropriate for evaluating how students learn.
- The graduate selects, designs, and develops assessments including tests, performance measures, observation schedules, and other formal or informal assessment procedures that are valid and reliable and provide appropriate information about students and instruction.