This course supports the assessment for the Undergraduate Business Portfolio. The course covers 1 competency and represents 3 competency units.

Introduction

Welcome to the Undergraduate Business Portfolio Course of Study! This is one of your culminating performance assessments in your business degree, and provides you the opportunity to document and demonstrate various competencies you have developed. Certainly in today's business environment there is a real need for the ability to communicate your strengths and competencies to employers, either in searching for new positions or in seeking advancement with current employers. An effective portfolio is clearly a tool that has value today -- and that is just what you are going to work on in this course of study.

Getting Started

The Undergraduate Business Portfolio course is designed to help you complete your portfolio. You will explore the e-text The Career Portfolio Workbook while you complete each section of your portfolio by following the guidelines in the course. As you are getting started on the portfolio, please take a few minutes to watch the following "Getting Started on the Portfolio" video. You will get an overview of the available learning resources, each required section, and keys to success on the portfolio.

Watch the following video for an informational introduction to this course:

What is the Portfolio?

This course is designed to prepare you for the Undergraduate Business Portfolio, a performance assessment consisting of five separate sections. The portfolio should be completed during your last academic term. This assessment focuses on developing a business portfolio containing a strengths essay, a career report, a reflection essay, a résumé, and exhibits that support your strengths in the workplace. The five sections included in the business portfolio will be compiled and submitted as one task for grading. Although there is only one task in Taskstream for the portfolio, you will upload multiple documents into the task to be graded.

In conjunction with your personal experience and background, you have developed many competencies as you have moved through the various assessments in your degree program. Now is your opportunity to highlight your mastery of these skills in the development of a business portfolio. Your final business portfolio will be an asset to you in your current and future professional endeavors.

Competencies

This course provides guidance to help you demonstrate the following competency.
• Competency 981.1.1: Capstone
  The graduate integrates and synthesizes competencies from across the degree program and thereby demonstrates the ability to participate in and contribute to the chosen professional field.

Course Mentor Assistance
As you prepare to demonstrate competency in this subject, remember that course mentors stand ready to help you reach your educational goals. As subject matter experts, mentors enjoy and take pride in helping students become reflective learners, problem solvers, and critical thinkers. Course mentors are excited to hear from you and eager to work with you.

Successful students report that working with a course mentor is the key to their success. Course mentors are able to share tips on approaches, tools, and skills that can help you apply the content you're studying. They also provide guidance in assessment preparation strategies and troubleshoot areas of deficiency. Even if things don't work out on your first try, course mentors act as a support system to help you prepare for another attempt. You should expect to work with course mentors for the duration of your coursework, and you are encouraged to contact them as soon as you begin. Course mentors are fully committed to your success!

Strengths Essay, Part I

The activities for this section will help prepare you to write the "Strengths" essay (Section A) for the undergraduate business portfolio. Understanding your individual strengths will help you see how you and potential work/career possibilities match, and allow you to focus more clearly on career goals that you will feel confident in pursuing.

It is beneficial for individuals to develop a strengths analysis in which personal strengths can be assessed in relation to a chosen career.

Strengths Essay Concepts

When you have completed this section, you will be able to

- evaluate your strengths.
- discuss the importance of a strengths essay, and
- discuss the occupational profile for your chosen career.

What individual strengths are needed to be successful in your chosen career? Understanding this and how your strengths compare is critical to your success. This is your opportunity to develop your understanding of this topic, as well as apply these principles to a real-world setting, including your own career and employment.

Your study of a Strengths essay includes resources from your textbook, SkillSoft, and the message board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need to master in order to develop your strengths essay.

What is a Career Portfolio?

Read the following from The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- Chapter 1 ("What is a Career Portfolio?")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions. Note your answers in the course Notes section, or in your study notebook or journal:

- What are the key concepts covered in a career portfolio?
- What is a career portfolio?
- Who should use a career portfolio?
What should a portfolio look like?
How should a portfolio be used?

Assembling Your Master Portfolio

Read the following from *The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- Chapter 2 ("Assembling Your Master Portfolio")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following:

- What kinds of documents should you include in your final portfolio?
- How can you obtain new documents for your portfolio?

Questions/Exercises: Examples of Portfolio Documents

Review the following from *The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- "Examples of Portfolio Documents" on page 18 of Chapter 2 ("Assembling Your Master Portfolio")

As you review these examples, make a list of potential portfolio documents you may be able to utilize for your final portfolio, and record your list in the course Notes section, or in your study notebook or journal.

The P.E.A.K.S. Categories

Review the P.E.A.K.S. (Personal Characteristic, Experience, Accomplishment, Knowledge, Skill) categories in Chapter 1 ("What Is a Career Portfolio") of The Career Portfolio Workbook. After reviewing the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- What is included in each of the P.E.A.K.S. categories?
- How can a P.E.A.K.S. assessment help you assess your strengths in relation to your chosen career?

Evaluate Your Strengths and Weaknesses as a Leader

Review the "Evaluate Your Strengths and Weaknesses as a Leader" article and evaluate your strengths and weaknesses as a leader. After reading the material in this website, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- How and where do you have influence?
• Where can you improve your people skills?
• Do you have a positive outlook or attitude?
• Do you see evidence of growth in your self-discipline?
• Do you have a proven track record of success in your chosen field?

Occupational Profile

Review the occupational profile for your chosen career at the CareerOneStop website by clicking on "Explore Careers" in the upper left-hand corner of the screen. After reviewing the material on this website, you should be able to answer the following question:

• What are beneficial strengths for your chosen career?

After reviewing the occupational profile for your chosen career utilizing the CareerOneStop website, take notes on the information you found on your chosen career. This information will be valuable to you as you develop your Strengths essay.

SkillSoft Module: "Managing Your Career: Getting on the Right Track"

Complete following SkillSoft module:

• Managing Your Career: Getting on the Right Track

After completing this SkillSoft module, you should be able to answer the following:

• What are some strategies for successful in-house job changes?
• What are the steps for creating and implementing a promotion plan?
• Describe the benefits of having a promotion plan.
• Describe strategies you can use to successfully ask for career advancing assignments.
• What are some ways you can successfully move on to a different employer to keep your career on track?

Complete the Course Test at the end of the SkillSoft module. The Job Aids will assist you in creating and implementing a promotion plan, and deciding when it is time to move on from your current job. The following Job Aids are available within the module, under the "Resources" link:

• Four Steps for Creating and Implementing a Promotion Plan
• When Is it Time to Leave?

Note: You have the option to select "AutoPlay" from within General Settings to automatically advance through the module.

Undergraduate Business Portfolio Message Board
Check the message board for this course and post any questions you might have at this point. Be sure to follow the questions and responses of other students and the expert advice of the course mentor on the message board.

Strengths Essay, Part II

Now that you have completed your review of the resources for this section, you will write your Strengths essay for your portfolio assessment. It is beneficial for individuals to develop a strengths analysis in which personal strengths can be assessed in relation to a chosen career. This is an opportunity for you to really think through and present what you see as your strengths in relation to potential employment/careers. In an employment interview you are often asked to describe your strengths, so this essay provides practice in clearly identifying those positive areas.

Write a Strengths Essay

When you have completed this section, you will be able to

- evaluate your top five strengths in relation to your chosen career; and
- provide examples from your personal life, work, or school activities that support your evaluation.

Now is your opportunity to demonstrate the competence you have developed as you write a Strengths essay identifying the beneficial strengths for you in your chosen career. Job candidates who have the ability to assert their personal strengths in relation to their chosen career increase their potential for future employment.

Your study of an appropriate Strengths essay has included resources from your textbook, SkillSoft, and the message board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to write the Strengths essay for your business portfolio.

Writing Your Strengths Essay

Now that you have completed your study of the concepts necessary to develop a Strengths essay for your portfolio, it is time to demonstrate your knowledge by developing your own Strengths essay by following these instructions:

Section A

Write an essay (suggested length of 1-2 pages) in which you include the following items:

- evaluate your top five strengths in relation to your chosen career; and
• provide examples from your personal life, work, or school activities that support your evaluation.

Concept Self-Check Activity

Check your completed strengths essay to ensure it meets the following requirements. In it, you should

• provide a logical evaluation of your top five strengths in relation to your chosen career.
• provide appropriate examples from your personal life, work, or school activities that support your evaluation; and
• contain work that is in correct APA format (if applicable) and contain effective sentence structure, solid vocabulary, accurate word choice, and no mechanical, grammar, or spelling errors.

Career Outlook Report, Part I

The activities for this section will help prepare you to write the Career Outlook report (Section B) for the undergraduate business portfolio. Knowing potential careers is a valuable tool in sorting through the many career possibilities ahead of you. This Career Outlook report will allow you to analyze and review the various career paths you are interested in and sort through those with the most potential, which will allow you to focus your career search more effectively.

A Career Outlook report provides individuals with vital career information, such as salary range, employment outlook, types of positions, and required education.

Concepts of Career Outlook Report

When you have completed this section, you will be able to

• identify concepts associated with a Career Outlook report, such as salary range, employment outlook, types of positions and required education; and
• describe appropriate components of a targeted portfolio.

In this nation's current economic situation, many careers that were once considered stable no longer possess such a positive career outlook. Therefore, it is vital for current job seekers to be educated on the career outlook for their chosen career to help ensure realistic career goals are pursued. This relevant exercise will help prepare you for the real-world application you will encounter as you apply for potential positions.

Your study of an appropriate Career Outlook report includes resources from your textbook and corresponding websites. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to write the career outlook report for your business portfolio.
Targeting Your Portfolio

Read the following in The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- Chapter 3 ("Targeting Your Portfolio")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- What does it mean to target a portfolio and why you should do so?
- When should you create a targeted portfolio?
- How can you select items that will appeal to your target audience?
- How should you organize the items in your targeted portfolio?

Using Informational Interviews to Perfect Your Portfolio

Read the following in The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- Chapter 4 ("Using Informational Interviews to Perfect Your Portfolio")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- What are informational interviews and why are they important?
- What key things can you learn from an informational interview?
- How can you identify and then contact the right people to interview?
- How do you conduct an informational interview?
- What homework should you do prior to informational interviews?

In Chapter 4 of your textbook, The Career Portfolio Workbook, a list of the types of people who might be particularly useful for informational interviews is provided. Review this list and identify individuals in your current situation who may provide effective informational interviews.

Career Outlook Report Websites

Review the following websites to determine relevant career outlook information for your chosen career:

- CareerOneStop
- Salary
- The Ladders
- Dice
- The Wall Street Journal

After reading the material in these websites, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- What is the salary range for your chosen career?
- What is the employment outlook for your chosen career?
What types of positions are available for your chosen career?
What education is required for your chosen career?

A Career Outlook report should contain components such as salary range, employment outlook, types of positions, and education required. As you review the above-mentioned websites, take notes on the relevant information for your chosen career.

The Message Board

Check the message board for this course, and post any questions you might have at this point. Be sure to follow the questions and responses of other students and the expert advice of the course mentor on the message board.

Career Outlook Report, Part II

Now that you have completed your review of the resources for this section, you will write your Career Outlook report for your portfolio assessment. This Career Outlook report will allow you to analyze and review the various career paths you are interested in and sort through those with the most potential, which will allow you to focus your career search more effectively.

A Career Outlook report provides individuals with vital career information, such as salary range, employment outlook, types of positions, and required education.

Write a Career Outlook Report

When you have completed this section, you will be able to

- provide a precise summary of your specific career field of interest; and
- provide appropriate information, such as salary range, employment outlook, types of positions available, and education required for your chosen career.

Now is your opportunity to demonstrate the competence you have developed as you write a Career Outlook report for your business portfolio. Individuals who have the ability to assess their career outlook in relation to their long-term goals will be at an advantage in a difficult job market. This relevant exercise not only provides you the opportunity to demonstrate the competence you have gained, but also to participate in a preparatory exercise for future career endeavors.

Your study of an appropriate Career Outlook report has included resources from your textbook, corresponding websites, and the Undergraduate Business Capstone and Portfolio Message Board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to write the "Career Outlook" report for your business portfolio.

Develop Your Career Outlook Report
Now that you have completed your study of the concepts necessary to develop an appropriate "Career Outlook" report, it is time to demonstrate your knowledge by developing your own.

Section B

Write a Career Outlook report (suggested length of 1-2 pages) in which you include the following items:

- a summary of a specific career field that interests you
- provide information such as salary range, employment outlook, types of positions available, and education required.

Concept Self-Check Activity

Check your completed "Career Outlook" report to ensure it meets the following requirements. In it, you should

- provide a precise summary of your specific career field of interest;
- provide appropriate information such as salary range, employment outlook, types of positions available, and education required; and
- contain work that is in correct APA format (if applicable) and contain effective sentence structure, solid vocabulary, accurate word choice and no mechanical, grammar, or spelling errors.

Reflection Essay, Part I

The activities for this section will help prepare you to write the Reflection essay (Section C) of the undergraduate business portfolio. It is always helpful to look back on experiences and activities to glean what is really of value to you as you prepare to move forward. This can be especially beneficial in the career search-reviewing for yourself what has been of value to you, and what you would hope to avoid in the future.

A reflection essay provides the opportunity for individuals to reflect on how past experiences have prepared them for their future career.

Concepts of a Reflection Essay

When you have completed this section, you will be able to

- describe appropriate components of a reflection essay,
- identify the advantages a portfolio can give you in an interview,
- utilize a portfolio during different stages of an interview, and
- describe ways your portfolio can be used in follow-up interviews and when responding to a job offer.
How have your past experiences prepared you for your current or future career? Having the ability to appropriately reflect on this question will not only assist you in being a more competitive job candidate, but will also help you be a well rounded, contributing member in your current and future organizations.

Your study of an appropriate Reflection essay includes resources from your textbook, corresponding websites, and the Undergraduate Business Capstone and Portfolio Message Board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to write the Reflection essay for your business portfolio.

Using the Portfolio to Get That Job

Read the following in The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- Chapter 6 ("Using That Portfolio to Get That Job")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- What should you achieve in a job interview?
- What advantages can a portfolio give you in an interview?
- How can you prepare yourself to use a portfolio in an interview?
- How can you use a portfolio during the different stages of an interview?
- How can you use your portfolio in follow-up interviews and when responding to a job offer?

Review the list of "Portfolio Do's and Don'ts" at the end of Chapter 6. Based on the information provided in this list, is it appropriate to bring extra copies of the items included in your portfolio to leave with the interviewer?

Review Reflective Essay Example

Review the Beginning a Career in Higher Education reflective essay on the Economics Network website. Review the reflective essay as an example for your own reflective essay.

After reviewing the website, you should be able to answer the following question:

- What are appropriate components of a reflective essay?

As you review the above-mentioned reflective essay example, take notes on key points you want to include in your own reflective essay.

The Message Board

Check the message board for this course and post any questions you might have at this point. Be sure to follow the questions and responses of other students and the expert advice of the course mentor on the message board.
Reflection Essay, Part II

Now that you have completed your review of the resources for this section, you will write your Reflection essay for your portfolio assessment.

A reflection essay provides the opportunity for individuals to reflect on how their past experiences have prepared them for their future career.

Write a Reflection Essay

When you have completed this section, you will be able to appropriately reflect on how your past experiences have prepared you for a future in your workplace.

Now is your opportunity to demonstrate the competence you have developed as you write a reflection essay for your business portfolio. In the current economy, it is critical for potential employees to differentiate themselves from other job candidates as they highlight past work and educational experiences that make them unique and appealing to employers.

Your study of an appropriate reflection essay has included resources from your textbook, corresponding websites, and the Undergraduate Business Capstone and Portfolio Message Board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to write the Reflection essay of your business portfolio.

Writing Your Reflection Essay

Once you have completed your review of the resources for this section, you will write your Reflection essay (Section C) by following these instructions:

Section C

Write an essay (suggested length of 3-5 pages) in which you include the following items:

- reflection on how your education and past work and life experiences have prepared you for your future in the workplace

Concept Self-Check Activity

Check your completed reflection essay to ensure it meets the following requirements. Ensure that your work

- appropriately reflects on how your education and past work and life experiences have prepared you for a future in your workplace;
- contains work that is in correct APA format (if applicable); and
- contains effective sentence structure; solid vocabulary; accurate word choice; and no mechanical, grammar, or spelling errors.
Résumé, Part I

The activities for this section will help prepare you to write your résumé (Section D) for the undergraduate business portfolio.

A résumé is often the first impression an employer has of a potential employee; therefore, it is vital that a résumé is professional and, organized, and clearly outlines a candidate’s relevant credentials.

Concepts of a Résumé

When you have completed this section, you will be able to

- describe the components of an effective résumé,
- list components of a P.E.A.K.S. résumé,
- describe how a portfolio can help you achieve greater security in your current career, and
- identify what you should be able to achieve with your résumé.

Today’s world of submitting résumés online to job websites varies drastically from the processes job seekers adhered to twenty years ago. If your résumé makes it through the screening process for one of these job websites, it is estimated that potential employees have approximately 12 seconds to convince an employer to continue reading their résumé. In this environment, it is critical for job seekers to have a résumé that clearly and concisely highlights their unique qualifications. The application of the concepts covered in this task will result in an updated résumé that will not only contribute to your business portfolio assessment, but also future job opportunities.

Your study of an appropriate résumé includes resources from your textbook, SkillSoft, and the Undergraduate Business Capstone and Portfolio Message Board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to write the résumé for your business portfolio.

Creating Résumés That Work With Your Portfolio

Read the following in The Career Portfolio Workbook, paying particular attention to tips on incorporating P.E.A.K.S. components into your résumé:

- Chapter 5 ("Creating Résumés that Work with your Portfolio")

Take notes in the course Notes section, or in your study notebook or journal.

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- What should you be able to achieve with your résumé?
- How can a P.E.A.K.S.-formatted résumé help you to achieve your résumé goals?
- How can you create a "master résumé"?
• How can you target your résumé for a particular job?

In chapter 5 of your textbook, review the suggested content for a P.E.A.K.S.-formatted résumé. Does your current résumé contain some of these P.E.A.K.S. components? If not, what sections would you need to add to your résumé?

Note: It is not required that your résumé be in P.E.A.K.S. format. This format is simply one suggested approach for your résumé.

Getting That Raise and Other Important Issues for Portfolios

Read the following in  The Career Portfolio Workbook:

• Chapter 7 ("Getting That Raise and Other Important Issues for Portfolios")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

• In addition to getting the job you want, what other purposes can a strong portfolio serve?
• How can an updated portfolio be helpful to you in your current organization?

After reading Chapter 7 in your textbook, consider the following question:

• What is one additional way you could utilize your completed business portfolio in your current employment situation?

Developing Your Portfolio to Protect and Advance Your Career

Read the following in  The Career Portfolio Workbook:

• Chapter 8 ("Developing Your Portfolio to Protect and Advance Your Career")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

• How can a portfolio help you achieve greater security in your present career?
• How can you position yourself to realize your career dreams?

Sample Résumés

Review the sample résumés in  The Career Portfolio Workbook. After reviewing these sample résumés, you should be able to answer the following:

• What are the components of an appropriate résumé?
• What are the most effective ways to format and organize your résumé for the reader?

As you review the sample résumés in your textbook, take notes on résumés you find most effective for their purpose, and post them in the course Notes section or in your study notebook or journal.
What are tips you gathered from the sample résumés that you would like to incorporate into your own résumé?

Résumé, Part II

Now that you have completed your review of the resources for this section, you will write your résumé for your business portfolio.

Write a Résumé

When you have completed this section, you will be able to write an effective résumé.

Now is your opportunity to demonstrate the competence you have developed as you prepare an updated résumé for your business portfolio. In the current economy, it is critical for potential employees to have an effective résumé that will differentiate themselves from other job seekers.

Your study of an appropriate résumé has included resources from your textbook, SkillSoft, and the Undergraduate Business Capstone and Portfolio Message Board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to write the résumé for your business portfolio.

Writing Your Résumé

Once you have completed your review of the resources for this section, you will write your résumé (Section D) following these instructions:

Section D

Write a résumé (no more than 3 pages in length).

Concept Self Check Activity

Check your completed résumé to ensure it meets the following requirements. Ensure that your work

- includes an appropriate résumé that is 1-3 pages long;
- includes the necessary formatting to be correctly viewed electronically and when printed;
- contains work that is in correct APA format (if applicable); and
- contains effective sentence structure; solid vocabulary; accurate word choice; and no mechanical, grammar, or spelling errors.

Exhibits, Part I
The activities for this section will help prepare the exhibits (Section E) for the undergraduate business portfolio. The exhibits in a professional portfolio provide an employer with additional evidence of a candidate's skills and/or abilities.

Concepts of an Exhibit

When you have completed this section, you will be able to:

- describe the creation and utilization of a digital portfolio,
- identify technical capabilities and constraints associated with different digital formats,
- list steps to compile a career portfolio in a short period of time, and
- identify appropriate exhibits to be included in a professional portfolio.

How can you differentiate yourself from other job candidates? One way can be to include solid exhibits in your business portfolio. These exhibits can provide an employer additional evidence of a candidate’s skills and abilities. As you develop your competence of the principles associated with appropriate exhibits, you will be creating a more solid business portfolio for your future use.

Your study of appropriate exhibits includes resources from your textbook and the Undergraduate Business Capstone and Portfolio Message Board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to compile appropriate exhibits for your business portfolio.

Digital Options for Your Portfolio and Résumé

Read the following in The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- Chapter 9 ("Digital Options for Your Portfolio and Résumé")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- How can you create and use digital portfolios?
- How can you present off-line digital portfolios?
- What are the pros and cons of having a web-based portfolio?
- What are the technical capabilities and constraints associated with different digital formats?

Portfolios on the Fly: Creating a Portfolio in a Few Hours

Read the following in The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- Chapter 10 ("Portfolios on the Fly: Creating a Portfolio in a Few Hours")

After reading the chapter, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- What are career portfolios and how can they help you achieve your next career goal?
- What are ten quick steps that will help you compile a career portfolio in a short period of time?
Chapter 10 of your textbook provides steps for individuals who want to quickly compile a portfolio. Based on these quick steps, what exhibits do you currently have on hand that you could incorporate into your portfolio?

Examples of Targeted Portfolios in Part II

Review the following section in Part II of The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- "Examples of Targeted Portfolios"

After reviewing these examples, you should be able to answer the following questions:

- What are the components of a targeted portfolio?
- Who is your portfolio trying to target?

After reviewing the examples of targeted portfolios in your textbook, whom have you identified as the target group for your own portfolio?

Examples of Portfolio Documents

Review the following in The Career Portfolio Workbook:

- "Examples of Portfolio Documents" on pages 18-20 of Chapter 1 ("What Is a Career Portfolio?")

After reviewing these examples, you should be able to answer the following question:

- What are some examples of appropriate portfolio documents?

The Message Board

Check the message board in the course and post any questions you might have at this point. Be sure to follow the questions and responses of other students and the expert advice of the course mentor on the message board.

Exhibits, Part II

Now that you have completed your review of the resources for this section, you will compile your exhibits for your portfolio assessment. The exhibits in a professional portfolio provide an employer with additional evidence of a candidate's skills and/or abilities.

Compile Exhibits

When you have completed this section, you will be able to provide appropriate exhibits to be included in your professional portfolio.
Now is your opportunity to demonstrate the competence you have developed as you compile appropriate exhibits for your business portfolio. These exhibits can be a distinguishing factor for job candidates in a downward economy.

Your study of appropriate exhibits has included resources from your textbook and the Undergraduate Business Capstone and Portfolio Message Board. Be sure to utilize each of these resources as they provide a broad range of viewpoints on the topics you will need in order to compile the exhibits for your business portfolio.

Compile Your Exhibits

Once you have completed your review of the resources for this section, you will compile your exhibits (Section E) by following these instructions:

Section E

Provide five exhibits to include in your professional portfolio. Examples may include the following items:

1. Executive summary from your capstone (no more than 1-2 pages in length).
2. Any artifact from your work experience if it applies directly to information that a potential employer would be interested in seeing (e.g., awards, certificates, letters of recommendation, performance evaluations, other evidence of outstanding work performance).
3. Any artifact from your university experience if it applies directly to information that a potential employer would be interested in seeing (e.g., transcripts, score reports, certificates, awards).
4. Description of a work product.
5. Projects or assignments completed to meet requirements in your degree program.

Concept Self-Check Activity

Check your compiled exhibits to ensure it meets the following requirements. Ensure that your work

- provides five appropriate exhibits;
- contains work that is in correct APA format (if applicable); and
- contains effective sentence structure; solid vocabulary; accurate word choice; and no mechanical, grammar, or spelling errors.

Conclusion

Congratulations! You have now successfully completed the Undergraduate Business Portfolio Course. From this culminating assessment, you have been able to demonstrate the competencies mastered throughout your entire degree program at WGU. In addition, this assessment has enabled you to complete a relevant exercise that will assist you in your current and future career opportunities.
