SKT2  Literature Reviews for Nursing Research  3 Competency Units

- The graduate understands the purpose of conducting a literature review and understands its relationship to educational or healthcare research and practice.
- The graduate understands how to select appropriate research topics and research paradigms.
- The graduate identifies, evaluates, and utilizes information resources in order to investigate specific research topics.
- The graduate understands how to organize and develop a thorough and coherent literature review.